

Wellspring Renewal Center

A sacred space in a unique natural setting for the renewal of spirit and fostering sustainability of the earth

Greetings!

Wellspring Renewal Center, in cooperation with Interfaith Power and Light, is honored to invite members and leaders of your faith community to participate in Standing on Holy Ground: An Interfaith Conference to Empower Northern California's Faith Communities in the Work for a Sustainable World, April 9-11 2010, in Philo (Mendocino County).

The purpose of this conference is to empower and connect individuals and communities of faith for the next significant steps in creating a sustainable world. Surrounded by magnificent redwoods, and in anticipation of Earth Day 2010, we will engage practical information and resources from religious and organizational leaders, share time for collaboration, contemplative practice, as well as learn from and honor our faith traditions. Our intention is that participants will emerge with renewed inspiration and clarity about how we as people of faith can envision and manifest the important and exciting work of this time in our own communities, as well as in an interfaith and regional context.

Wellspring Renewal Center is celebrating its 30th anniversary year as a non-profit organization with a history of commitment to fostering sustainability of the earth and interfaith collaboration. We steward land that is held in trust with the Anderson Valley Land Trust and which provides a haven for wildlife, as well as sustaining an organic garden to share with the families, friends and organizations that come to this place for renewal and connection.

We invite you to share the flyers included in this envelope with other individuals or to post them where you feel it is appropriate. We will also be sending out an email version of this flyer that can be forwarded to interested communities and individuals. Please see our website, call or email us with any questions. You may register by mailing the form on the flyer or by phone.

We look forward to sharing this place and this time! If you cannot participate in this conference, but wish to be contacted about opportunities to enjoy Wellspring events, please also let us know by email or phone so that we can keep you connected.

In Gratitude,

Rev. Laurie Adams, Director, Programming and Outreach
Rev. Todd Evans, Founder, Member of the Board of Directors
Jennifer Toth, N. California Outreach Director, California Interfaith Power and Light
